Jewish Liturgy. Observant Jews daven (pray) in formal worship services three times a day, every day: at evening (Ma'ariv), in the morning (Shacharit), and in the afternoon (Minchah). Daily prayers are collected in a book called a siddur, which derives from the Hebrew root meaning "order," because the siddur shows the order of prayers.

Why evening worship? Why should we go to church twice on Sunday? It takes more time out of our weekend, requires us to endure the process of getting the family dressed, ready, and there on time; and even from the pastor's perspective, it doubles the work load not only on Sunday but even for the rest of the week.
