The award of patents for the diagnostic test for haemochromatosis, a progressive iron-overload disease, joins an ever-growing list of such tests that have been, or will very soon be, patented. We have found that US laboratories have refrained from offering clinical-testing services for haemochromatosis because of the patents.

There's not too many hard numbers for sizing and shrinkage for Merz, except that they will generally shrink about 1-2" in length and minimal shrinkage in width. So we've done a few shrink tests to help narrow this information gap. The first shirt we'll use is the 206 L/S Henley, one of their most popular styles to date.

Design. Thanks to the 40/20/40 design of the rear seats, the bag can be used while two outboard rear-seat passengers ride comfortably and properly buckled up. Built in roller wheels, a handle and a condensation drain further ease the bag's use. The mat features a soft velour side and a grippy rubberized side.
